Joy Garnett is not only a fascinating and accomplished painter but she takes a neat photo too.

There's a huge set of images on her Flickr pages entitled Unmonumental – a recording and honouring of the melancholy beauty of the neglected, ephemeral, the broken and the passing. Recently she's added videos to the collection and here're two of them.

They are utterly beguiling and we're going to show the whole lot over the next weeks and months.
